"We have a lot of work ahead of us" - Yes we do, we have picked up the pace and with the speed we are now moving at we feel comfortable that we will reach our goals.

We have had some major technical hurdles to overcome getting here but feel the worst is behind us.

We are focusing on capturing user experiences now and since we have the experiences of the player receiving relevant messages and the experience of the parents receiving messages to be involved, we now are aiming to capture the parental portal experience where the parent can view information about their child's playtime as well as customise the messages they wish to receive about their child and set boundaries. After that we will be improving the existing aspects of our application and improving the front end.

Shane - Will create the front end for the parental portal and refine the current front end all around.

Bryden - Will implement the logic for the parental portal with settings being locally stored.
